

Transforming Health

Community Priorities & Medicaid Transformation

How familiar are you with the new efforts underway to improve the health and well-being of North Carolinians, both locally and statewide?

WNC communities are actively reviewing results of the 2018 WNC Healthy Impact regional health assessment and determining health priorities to be addressed at the local level. NC Medicaid Transformation is rolling out across the state over the next year. These efforts bring change and opportunity to work together to foster healthier individuals and communities.

This dinner program will review the current community health priorities, strategies and resources, an overview of Medicaid transformation, and offer tools and resources to help clinicians navigate these changes to help their patients thrive.
