Literature has shown that prescribers receive little education on the treatment of pain resulting in less effective pain treatment with worse outcomes. Attendees will learn the evidence-based analysis of the relative effectiveness of medications and their side effects, recommendations on how to improve treatment of acute and chronic pain and recognizing substance use/opioid use disorders. This program will include the three required topics outlined by the new CME requirement in 21 NCAC 32R .0101:

- Controlled substances prescribing practices
- Recognizing signs of the abuse or misuse of controlled substances
- Controlled substance prescribing for chronic pain management

As of July 1, 2017 all physicians (other than residents), physician assistants, nurse practitioners, podiatrists, and dentists who prescribe controlled substances must satisfy the controlled-substance prescribing CME requirement set forth in 21 NCAC 32R .0101. Requirements vary by discipline and board. Prescribers will turn in controlled substance CE when they renew licensure.

AUDIENCE

The program is recommended for physicians, physician assistants, pharmacists, nurse practitioners, dentists and podiatrists.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Describe the impact of the opioid crisis
- Identify the CDC guidelines for Prescribing Opioids for Acute Pain
- Identify the CDC guidelines for prescribing opioids for Chronic pain
- Discuss what to do with patients on opioids that fall outside the guidelines

FACULTY

Blake Fagan, MD, completed his undergraduate education at the University of Missouri –Columbia. He completed medical school at Vanderbilt University SOM in 1998 before finishing his family medicine residency at the Mountain Area Health Education Center (MAHEC) in Asheville, NC in 2001. He has been a faculty member at MAHEC since 2001. During that time he has been the co-clinical director, assistant residency director and the residency director. Dr. Fagan will present on June 6th and August 29th.

Don Teater, MD, is a family physician who has lived and worked in Western North Carolina since 1988. His work in the southern Appalachian Mountains made him aware of the problems with opioid pain medications years ago. In 2004 he started a clinic to treat those addicted to opioids in his primary care practice.

From 2013 to mid-2016, he worked as Medical Advisor at the National Safety Council addressing the national epidemic of opioid abuse, addiction, and overdose. Dr. Teater was lead facilitator for the expert panel discussion during the development of the CDC Guideline for Prescribing Opioids for Chronic Pain — United States, 2016. Dr. Teater has also served on the World Health Organization Committee addressing drugged driving that met in Mallorca, Spain in December 2015.

Since June 2016, Dr. Teater has worked for Teater Health Solutions to concentrate on educating prescribers and others on the science of opioids and how that should influence treatment and policy decisions. Currently he contracts with the Center for Disease Control on the academic detailing of prescribers to educate them on the appropriate use of opioids for the treatment of pain. He continues to work one day per week treating those afflicted by the disease of addiction at Meridian Behavioral Health Services in Western North Carolina.
